

Speaker kit

Jordan Tampien

Real estate developer, author of Stacking Bricks, and co-host of Chess Not Checkers

Bio, 100 words

Jordan Tampien is a real estate developer, investor and designated broker in Spokane, where he co-founded 4 Degrees Real Estate and 4 Degrees Capital. Over two decades he has closed more than $500 million in residential and commercial real estate and built apartment buildings, breweries, gyms and sports ventures across the Inland Northwest. He has also lost a great deal of it. When the market turned, he faced foreclosures, lawsuits and millions in losses, and rebuilt the only way he knows how: one brick at a time. That method became his book, Stacking Bricks, and his podcast, Chess Not Checkers.

Bio, 50 words

Jordan Tampien is a Spokane real estate developer and co-founder of 4 Degrees Real Estate and 4 Degrees Capital. He has built apartment buildings, breweries and gyms across the Inland Northwest, and rebuilt after losing much of it. He is the author of Stacking Bricks and co-hosts the podcast Chess Not Checkers.

One-line intro

Jordan Tampien, real estate developer and author of Stacking Bricks, Spokane.

Talks

The Next Brick. The real story of losing millions, facing creditors, and coming back one unglamorous brick at a time, and the simple rhythm that makes it repeatable.

Clear the Rubble. For leaders and founders in a hard season: naming reality, making the calls you've been avoiding, and rebuilding trust with investors, partners and your team.

Chess Not Checkers. How builders think several moves ahead, and why patience and systems beat speed.

Formats: keynote, workshop, fireside chat, panel, podcast and media.